FREW & CAMPBELL,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1877.

True Daily Statement of Columbus, Ohio, has just published a story which, if it is true, will create one of the highest sensations ever known. The paper states that not far from the center of the city a man by the name of Snyder has been carrying on the business for some months past of exhuming dead bodies, boiling them so as to get the flesh off the bones, wiring them into skeletons, and then selling them for forty and sixty dollars each. The person who writes the statement claims to have been inside the building where the boiling is done, and also seen the skeletons after they were wired up and ready for sale. He also claims that a man in the employ of Snyder informed him that the establishment was turning out from 150 to 200 per year, or at that rate. Operations were begun by Snyder about a year ago, but it was not until a short time since that suspicions that had long existed took tangible enough to lead to an investigation. By many the story is discredited, and by others set down as true.

The constitution of the State of Pennsylvania forbids railroads to issue passes, but the railroads of the State do that same and Col. Scott suppressed a stockholder who wanted to get a vote against it in the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania railroad Tuesday. Since the overhauling which the stockholders gave the policy of this road a few years ago, it pretty nearly runs itself. Of the gross earnings of $80,890,000, 40 per cent was net, being enough to pay the rents of leased lines, interest on bonded debt, taxes, and 8 per cent on the capital, and to carry to the surplus $1,510,000. After paying the assets and allowing for some depreciations, the surplus fund amounts to over ten millions, but it is not stated how it is invested, whether "plowed in" or not. The average cost per passenger per mile was 1.05 cents; the average receipts just 1 cent more, which was, of course, not. On no road business, the low cost is wonderful. The leased lines in Pennsylvania and eastward are a source of profit to the company. On those west of Pittsburgh, the road lost $35,000 during the year, which was, figuring pretty close on a total business of $24,000,000. About 17,000 tons of steel rails were laid during the year.

The Life-Insurance Revelations.—Three points have been established in reference to life-insurance management in the examination of witnesses at Albany. These are (1), that salaries are paid which, judged by any recognized business standard, must be pronounced extravagant; (2), that a vicious system of percentages prevails in some companies, whereby large additions are made to salaries already quite large, on a basis which involves considerable peril; (3), that the power of managers is perpetuated by an abuse of proxies, which are obtained when policies are issued, and are allowed to run indefinitely, constituting an improper source of strength to the officers holding them. The last of these evils it is the duty of the Legislature to correct. The propriety of allowing proxies to holders of life-insurance policies is doubtful, but the way in which the privilege is perverted is too scandalous to be tolerated. A proxy should be permissible only when given for a specific occasion, and available for no other. The other evils must be left to the voluntary action of the companies concerned, subject to the wholesome pleasure of public opinion, which now for the first time realizes some of the worst features of the system. Publicity will compel reform, with or without help from Albany.—New York Times.

OUR WELLSBURG LETTER.

WELLSBURG, April 3, 1877.

The Murphy temperance movement is still the chief topic of conversation. Meetings were held every night last week except Saturday. On Thursday evening Dr. Wright, late of New York, and a Murphy convert, gave his experience as a hard drinker, and in a very able manner warned his hearers never to indulge in intoxicating liquors. Robert Love, "the Ohio squire," spoke next, and eloquently portrayed the evils resulting from the drinking of liquors, appealing strongly for all to sign the pledge. A large number came forward and signed the pledge. Friday evening the meeting was conducted and addressed mainly by home material. Marshall Swarwick, Esq., of Pittsburgh, was announced to speak Monday evening. He sent word that important business matters prevented him from being present, but that he would come the first opportunity.

Citizens have gone to work in the temperance cause with a will. The ladies have organized an auxiliary branch of the National Christian Temperance Union, and elected the following officers: President—Mrs. Eliza Paul. Vice President—Mrs. W. L. Miller. Secretary—Miss Jennie Craig. Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Tarr. The ladies are in deep earnest in this matter, and will spare no pains to further the cause in which they have so willingly enlisted.

A meeting of the temperance people was held in the Court House on Saturday afternoon for the nomination of town officers, to be voted for at the election on Thursday next. The following selection was made: Mayor—Dr. Geo. W. Caldwell. Sergeant—Wm. Linton. Clerk—T. W. Griffin. Street Commissioner—Thos. Bond. Council—W. C. Barclay, C. B. Brashers, J. D. Leazer, Wilson Beall, W. V. Clendenen, John Reid. Dr. Wright informs us that he delivered a temperance lecture on Friday evening at a meeting house several miles west of New Alexandria, Jefferson county, Ohio, and obtained over thirty signatures to the pledge.

There has been little else done or thought of during the last week but to talk temperance. The meetings are to be kept up the greater part of this week, then probably weekly or monthly meetings will be held. The list of signers now number near eleven hundred.

Five new dwelling houses in Leazarville will soon be ready to be occupied. J. W. Jacobs is putting up a nice brick dwelling in the Leazarville district. Mr. Jacob Stevens, an old citizen of this county, residing in the Cross Creek district, was buried yesterday. Speakers were expected from Wheeling to address the temperance meeting last night, but we were disappointed in not being able to obtain them. Revs. Dean and Mathers and G. W. Caldwell made speeches. Over 30 signatures to the pledge, and still there is more to follow. G. B. C.

The Murphy Wave Strikes New Martinsville, Va.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. VA., April 3, 1877.

The Murphy temperance wave has struck our little village and instead of meeting with resistance it has swept clear over the battlements and towers of "king alcohol." On last Saturday Messrs. Trueman and Kemple came here on the steamer Phoenix, and on the same evening inaugurated the "Murphy Temperance Movement" of which we have been hearing so much, but until that time felt none of the influence of. At that first meeting twenty-seven signed the pledge; on Sabbath day in the forenoon twelve more, in the afternoon eight; at the night meeting seventeen more; and at the present writing we have one hundred and twenty-seven on the roll. We have men who have been drinking for twenty years, old and gray, middle-aged and young men, and right here I would like to give the names, but it might not be proper. Many of those who have signed the pledge here are well known in your city. One saloon keeper has signed the pledge and closed up his saloon.

We had an election here yesterday for town officers. The issue was "License" disguised under the name of a "Corporation Improvement Ticket" and Anti-License. The Anti-License ticket was elected by twenty of a majority. So we will have no retailing of intoxicating liquors here after the first of next May, that ending the license year. On yesterday evening at our meeting, our little church was full to overflowing. The accomplished Dillon sisters and a young Mr. Dillon, son of James M. Dillon, Esq., of your city, were with us and rendered efficient service and assistance by singing, with organ accompaniment. We highly appreciate their kindness.

We are to have another meeting here to-night. Quite a request is made here for the removal of the M. E. Church. The removal of Rev. Schaffer to another field of labor was wholly unexpected, but least of all by his numerous friends and admirers. During the past conference year he had charged of the congregation of Short Creek and West Liberty, which appointments he filled to the entire satisfaction of the members and the public generally. The transferring of our friend and pastor to a distant field of labor was in direct opposition to the known wishes of the members of both churches. The measure is considered an arbitrary stretch of power on the part of the presiding elder, through whose agency the removal was effected. It has, in fact, created a general outburst of indignation throughout this portion of the country. Rev. Schaffer had during his short stay among us, endeavored himself to all classes of society by his Christian deportment and example of manners, but above all, by his untiring efforts in winning souls to Christ. He has been the instrument in God's hands of accomplishing more good than had been done by his predecessors in a decade.

Rev. Schaffer is a preacher of no ordinary talent. He is often truly eloquent and impassioned, enforcing his arguments with a weight that sends conviction to the hearts of his hearers. We sincerely pray that he may in the providence of God, prove as successful in his new field of labor as he has been in the one which he is about to leave. A FRIEND.

DIED.
MEMPHIS.—On Tuesday afternoon, April 3, 1877, at half past two o'clock, Mrs. ALICE McKEITH, wife of John McKeith, died.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, from her husband's residence, No. 312 McCulloch street. Friends of the family are invited to attend.
